

LOCAL BUSINESS IN UK ELITE

Aled Wyn based in Ammanford, has been voted one of the Top Rated Independent Financial Advisers (IFAs) in the UK on consumer ratings site VouchedFor.

Aled was featured in The Times, Independent and Mail on Sunday as a result of his achievement.

The accolade, which was awarded to Aled thanks to support from his satisfied clients, is great news for locals looking for help planning their finances.

Comments Aled: “Ever since I became an independent financial adviser I have benefited from working closely with experienced financial advisers. Being recognised as a Top Rated Adviser in the UK is an amazing feeling and I'm very grateful to my clients who took the time to leave a review. At iPlanning we firmly believe that there is value to be had in seeking financial advice. Financial advice is all about helping people to make the most of their hard earned money and securing their financial future. Speaking to an adviser can save you thousands, be that getting the right mortgage, pension, annuity or making the right decision with your savings. Is being dependent on the incredibly low rates offered by high street banks a good idea?” Furthermore, a financial adviser can highlight potential threats to your financial future and work towards fixing them, giving you confidence that your financial future is secure.

Comments Adam Price, Founder of VouchedFor: “Selecting a financial adviser to trust with your finances is a big decision. You need to trust them implicitly. With over 7000 independent financial advice firms in the UK, and over 20,000 advisers the choice can seem overwhelming. Having a Top Rated adviser like Aled on the doorstep is undeniably a great asset but don't just take our word for it. There is a raft of positive feedback about Aled on VouchedFor. Read what his clients have to say and see for yourself!”

Aled was selected as a result of clients reviewing and rating his services on consumer ratings website VouchedFor.co.uk. The site, which enables people looking for financial advice to find a recommended IFA, works like TripAdvisor. You can search for an adviser free of charge based on location and services provided. Advisers are then listed based on client reviews giving those seeking advice confidence that the adviser can be trusted.

About Vouchedfor.co.uk

VouchedFor.co.uk lets consumers find, rate and review Independent Financial Advisers. It clearly displays IFAs' qualification levels, and ensures all IFAs are authorised by the FSA (or FSA-regulated firm). VouchedFor.co.uk is an independent service and reviews come entirely from IFAs' clients. All reviews are subject to strict anti-fraud processes.

Adam Price, formerly of Barclays Wealth, founded VouchedFor.co.uk in 2011 because despite working in the investment industry, he didn't know where to direct friends to find the right financial adviser.
